ACP Jets vs. Status Quo

ACP Jets vs. Fractional Aircraft Ownership

By purchasing a fractional share, you have to lay out a portion of the upfront capital to reserve the right to utilize the aircraft and have it managed and operated for you. However, the illusion of owning a share of a jet limits you to a certain amount of usage per year and to a certain type of aircraft that may or may not be available to you when you need it. On top of that you are contractually committed for a length of time, have to pay inflated management fees per month (whether you utilize the aircraft or not), and suffer further financial loss due to the more rapid devaluation of fractional aircraft.

ACP Jets requires no large initial investment, no monthly management fees, no long term contract and no limit on type of aircraft or amount of usage.

ACP Jets vs. Conventional Aircraft Charter

A conventional charter company that operates a single aircraft or a fleet is geographically limited and charges you for empty legs, repositioning and limits you in your choice of aircraft for your mission. Not to mention that they cannot accommodate you should they not have aircraft availability for the times you request. By chartering through a conventional charter company, you are held hostage to their aircraft and their limitations.

At ACP Jets we offer one-way pricing at occupied hourly rates where you will only pay for the legs associated directly with your trip; you can choose the perfect aircraft in size and performance to suit your current mission and you can enjoy these benefits nationwide no matter where your trip originates.

ACP Jets vs. Jet Card Programs

There exists a variety of Private Jet membership programs. Some sell an extrapolated version of a jet debit account i.e $100,000 or $200,000 and guarantee very little of substance while others simply resell a fractional share of an aircraft in the form of prepaid hours. Either way you are held hostage to pre-established inflated hourly rates that have other factors such as management fees and services charges built into them.

ACP Jets Endeavour program offers you the ability to purchase a certain amount of hours giving you the same benefits of fractional ownership without the hassles and expenses of monthly management fees, high acquisition costs and aircraft devaluation.

All the benefits of fractional aircraft ownership at a fraction of the cost.

Endeavour is a unique nationwide occupied block charter program that couples the security and reliability of fractional aircraft ownership with the flexibility and cost effectiveness of a jet card program. You simply purchase a guaranteed block of flight hours and only pay for the time you actually occupy the aircraft.

Unlike Fractional Ownership or Marquis Jets we enable you to interchange between aircraft category, allowing you to choose the most efficient and suitable aircraft for your mission.

Think of it as your personal access to a fleet of aircraft at your beckoning call. Being an Endeavour Program member allows for hassle free and expeditious turn around on your Jet experience and most importantly it consolidates your travel efforts with a company you can depend on.
